Austrian and Hungarian Peace Envoys Summoned to Versailles to Get Terms

PARIS, May 3 .- The Council of Three has invited the Austrian and Hungarian peace delegates to come to Versailles the week after next to receive the peace terms relating to their respective countries Reuter's correspondent is informed.

The Austrian delegation upon its arrival will be housed at St. Germain, a suburb of Paris, seven miles north of Versailles. Therefore the Austrians will be separated from the Germans at Versailles.

The prefect of the department of the Seine-et-Oise and Col. Henry of the French War Office went to St. Germain to-day to look over the situation and to arrange for quarters. Several hotels are available for the Austrians, while an old chateau, which has been rebuilt for use as a museum, offers suitable conference halls.

The actual negotiations with the Austrian delegates will take place at Versailles, to which place they will be transported in motor cars, a drive of about seven miles. The famous terrace of St. Germain, overlooking the Seine, will be used by the delegates for exercise
